

The Impact of COVID-19 on US Teachers

Thousands of teachers from across America shared their thoughts on teaching during the pandemic.

Despite the pandemic, teachers in the US plan to continue teaching

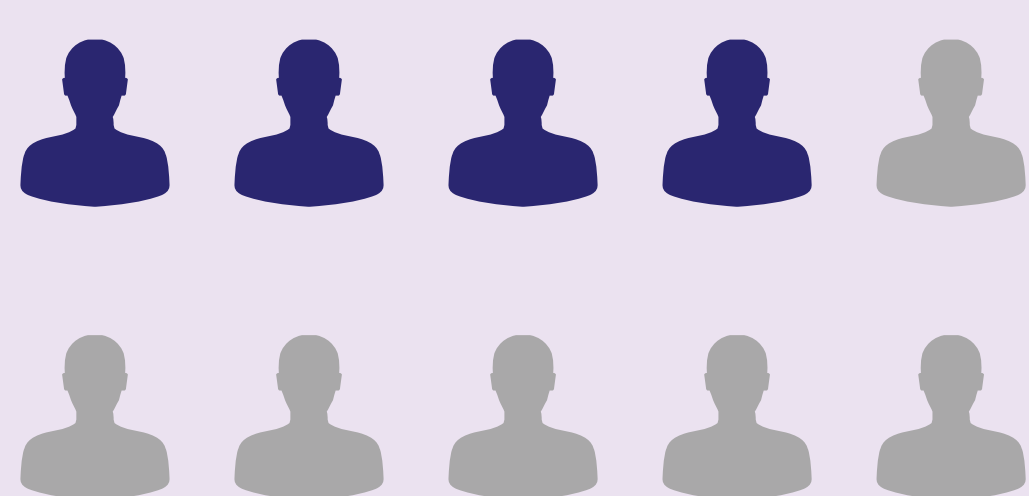

94%

The majority of teachers plan to continue teaching in the future

COVID-19 is the reason why two thirds of teachers plan not to continue teaching.

4 in 10 teachers have considered a career change

Teachers have considered teaching abroad and online as alternatives to continue their teaching careers

Considered teaching online 71%

67% Considered teaching abroad

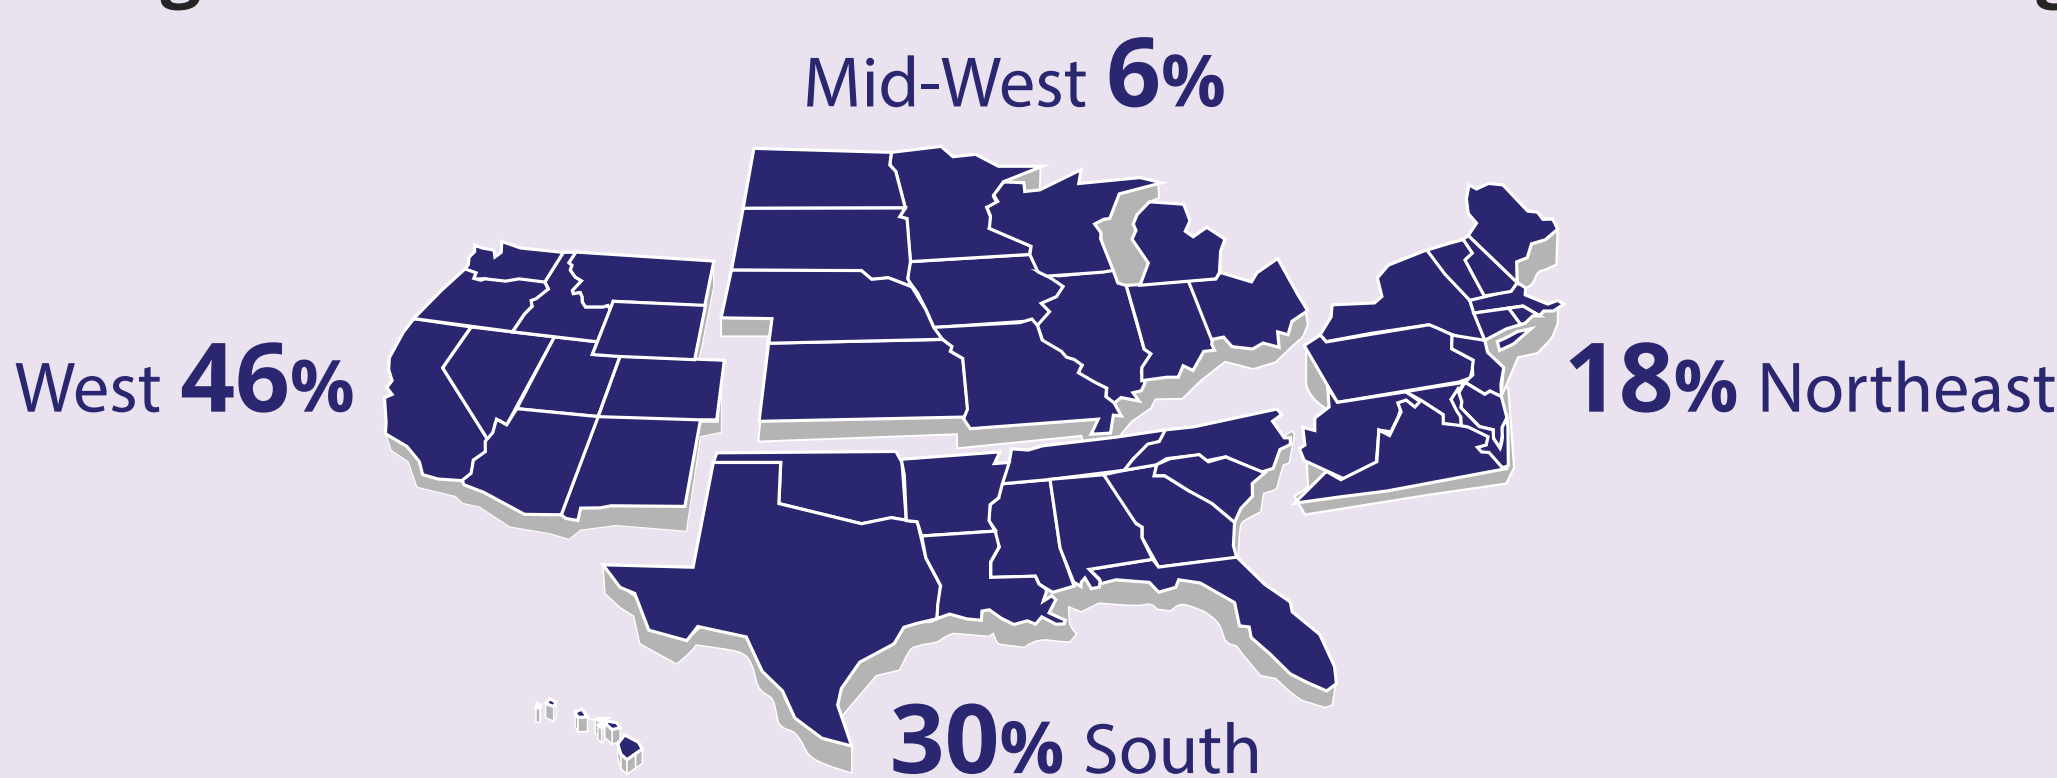

COVID-19 has impacted where teachers would like to teach

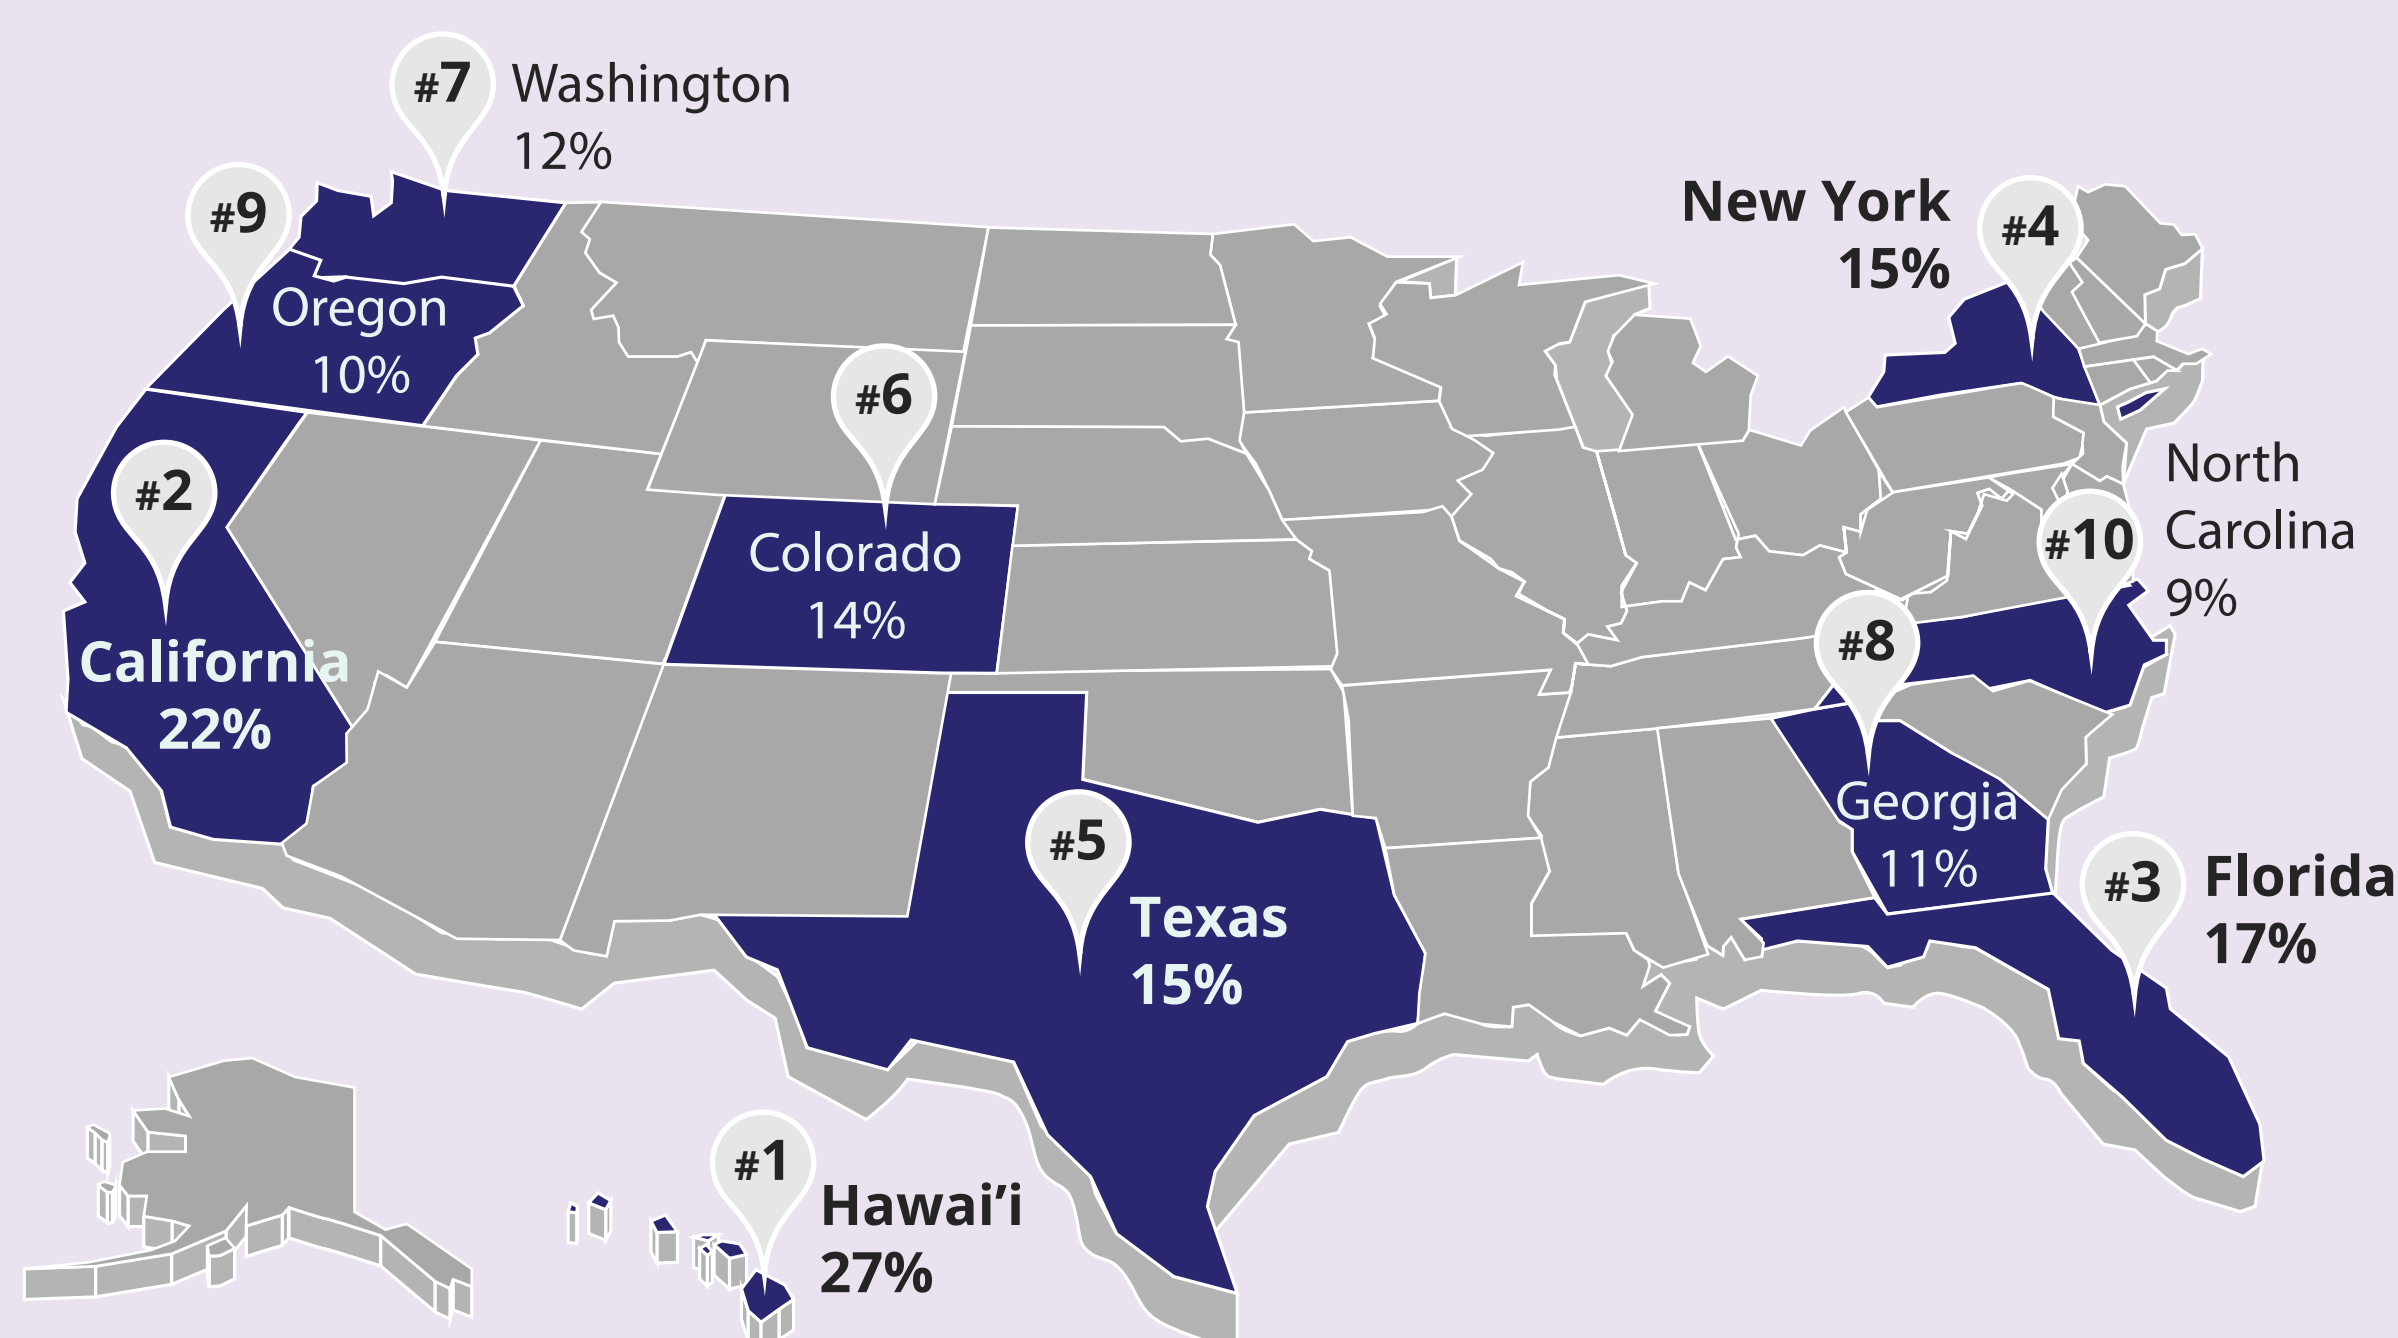

More than 3 in 4 teachers are interested in opportunities outside of their home state

The regions where teachers are most interested in teaching

The states where teachers are most interested in teaching

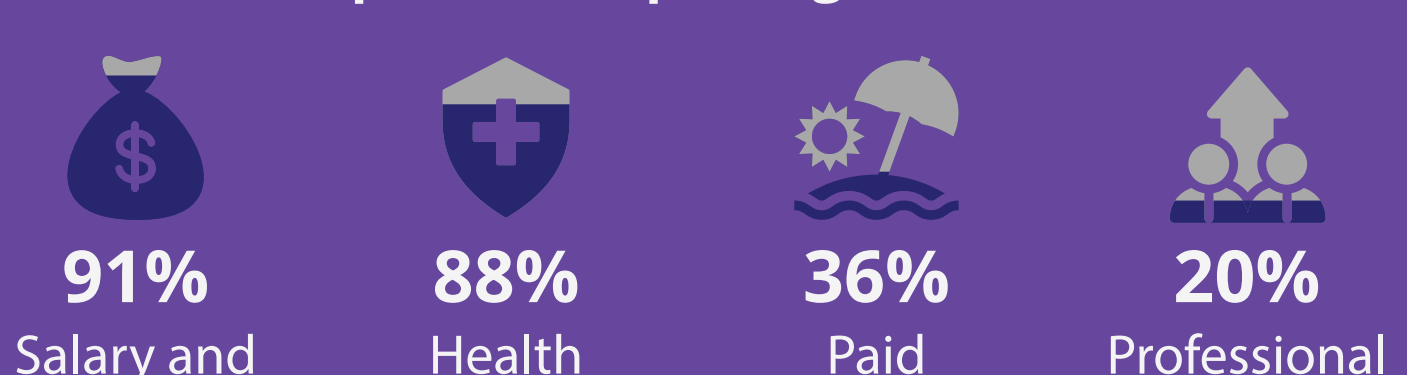

COVID-19 has impacted teachers' compensation expectations

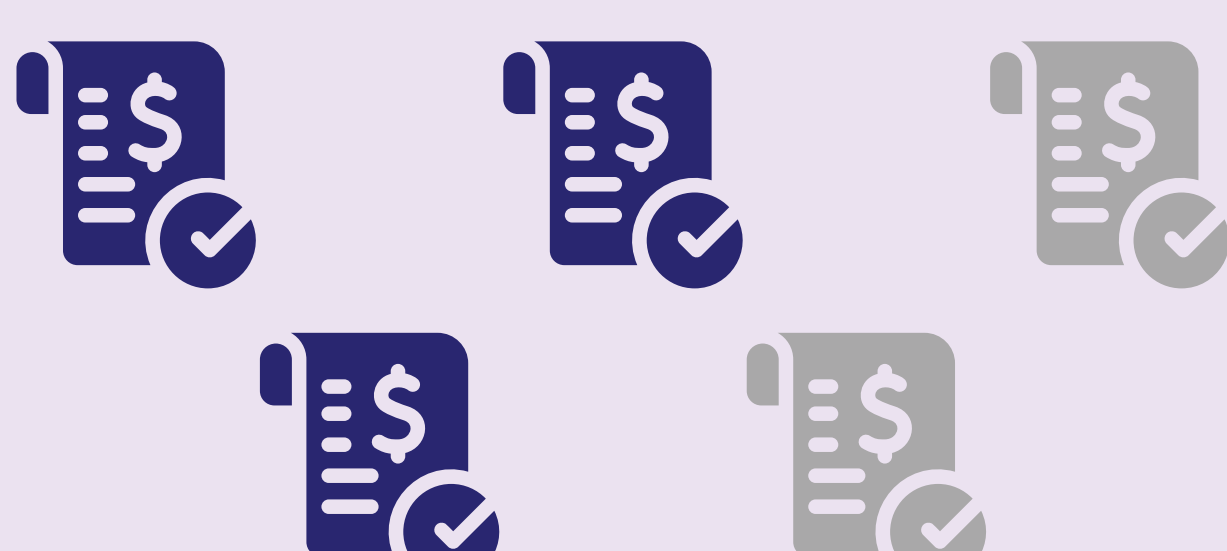

Nearly two thirds of teachers say COVID-19 has impacted their compensation expectations

The most important factors of the compensation package for teachers

3 in 5 teachers said COVID-19 has led them to prioritize particular aspects of their compensation package

Teachers are prioritizing salary and bonus and health insurance since the onset of COVID-19

COVID-19 has impacted how teachers are searching for jobs

Nearly two thirds of teachers said COVID-19 has impacted the way they would search for a job

Nearly 1 in 2 teachers would not feel comfortable attending an in-person job fair

3 in 10 teachers would not feel comfortable attending an in-person interview

The job search methods teachers are using since COVID-19 began

- 30% Education job board
- 16% Online job fair
- 13% Search engine
- 11% Recruiter
- 9% Personal referral
- 7% School website
- 7% Online job aggregator
- 4% In-person job fair
- 2% Social media
- 1% Education message board/forum/blog

Classroom makes it easy to find and hire all the teachers you need.

Learn more